

SpooF Tube

Announcements

Can you decipher which Tube Announcements are real, and which are fake? Read the recordings and try to figure them out.

Some may be challenging!

1. A reminder to all passengers, do not drop litter on the train. Please use the tramps provided.
2. Emergency Warning: I've chipped a nail.
3. This station is Tooting Broadway.
4. Alight here.
5. Mind the Gap, please.
6. This is the way out.
7. This is Oval.
8. This station is Shepherd's Pie.
9. Change here for the Barking-bound line.
10. Peak hours may necessitate that you let other people sit on your lap.

Now look at the 'Answers' page. How many did you get right?

HOW MANY DID YOU GET RIGHT?

1-3 You're from America.

4-6 You're a Londoner.

7-10 The Queen would be proud.

GOOD JOB, AND THANKS FOR PLAYING! CHECK OUT LONDON'S TRAVELERS AND BRITISH → ENGLISH WORDS, TOO!

ANSWERS on back page

ANSWERS:

1. False; this is a spoof tube announcement.
2. False; this is a spoof tube announcement.
3. True; this is a real tube announcement.
4. True; this is a real tube announcement.
5. True; this is a real tube announcement.

INFO: Mind the Gap is a phrase used to remind passengers to watch their step between the train and the platform.

6. True; this is a real tube announcement.
7. True; this is a real tube announcement.
8. False; this is a spoof tube announcement.
9. True; this is a real tube announcement.

INFO: The Hammersmith & City train ends at Barking station (eastbound).

10. False; this is a spoof tube announcement.